Good morning,

Please find responses below in blue to questions received for tonight's meeting. Also, please remember you can still submit questions related to tonight's agenda items prior to the meeting to allow staff to adequately research the item before the meeting. Thanks!

Jen

I am especially curious whether there is a map showing the territory covered by this initiative. I have a belief of what is included in the Santa Cruz Mountains but I find the description in the report to be vague. And a mention of a project in Gilroy? I'm not sure how that is considered part of the SC Mountains.

The Network has not developed a map establishing boundaries to the territory. As you observed, the definition in the Preamble to the MOA is not precise, but mentions the Pajaro River as the southern boundary. The project that refers to "Pinto Lake near Gilroy" is north of the Pajaro River (and north of Hwy 152). The enclosed Google Earth aerial may be helpful in understanding what is often generally considered to be the Santa Cruz Mountains region.
